BY THE BARD OF OAK HALL.

There is a doctor in our town A man of practice and renown; He makes a bandsome income clear, And lays up meney every year. Now, when he started out in youth, He had but little cash in truth; But still he'd try his best to do, And make a name and money too. He attended lectures, studied hard, And very quickly passed the board, He opened office, hung out sign, But many patients could not find. Each day he sat, with saddened face, for poverty came on apace; At last a friend gave him advice Which changed his fortune in a trice. Now patients flocked from far and pear, And kept him busy all the year; Men and women all declare, No dector can with him compare. The secret of his great success,
I'll tell you if you cannot guess;
The same advice will help you all,
He got a suit from SMITH'S OAK HALL.

General Kiddo's wounds are aggraysted, and lears are entertained that he will have to ask to be relieved. Strong efforts have been made to provent the grand jury at Trenton, N. PREPARATIONS FOR THE EXECUTION O PROBST.—The murderer of the Deering family will undergo the penalty of the law at Phila. delphia to-day, between the hours of ten and wo o'clock. DR. MARY E. WALKER ARRESTED. - Dr. Mary Walker, well known in this city during the war, has, it appears, got into trouble in New York. The Post of yesterday says:---An unusual excitement was caused at the Police Heauquarters in Mulberry street yesterday, by a visit from Dr. Mary E. Walker, well known during the war as "Major" Walker. Sheserved as surgeon in the army during the war. The object of her visit was to enter a complaint against a policeman for illegally arresting her It seems that on Tuesday the woman was walking in Canal street, near Broadway, dressed in a long black coat and black panta loons, when an 8th precinct policeman took her into custody for wearing men's attire. Having been conducted to the station-house, the woman convinced the sergeant that she ought not to have been arrested, and that officer discharged her. Yesterday, Dr. Walker preferred a complaint against the policeman. ail ging not only that she had been illegally arrested, but that the officer had used unne cessary violence, and had insulted her. He will be tried before the Police Commissioners at an early day. It is understood that there is no law to prevent a woman from dressing in male attire, if she chooses to do so; but women thus dressed are frequently arrested when the police suppose the garb is assumed for the purpose of committing any unlawful act. It is probable that the officer in the present instance made a blander, but it is not thought that any heavy penalty will be imposed upon

SINGULAR DISCOVERY OF HIDDEN TREAS-URE BY INDIANS.—The Carrollion (Illinois) Democrat says: For some time past a party of Iudians, numbering fifteen, belonging to the Cherokee tribe, have been encamped upon the banks of the Illinois river, ten miles from this place. Their ostensible object was fishing, place. Their ostensible object was fishing, hunting, i.e., but it appears from recent developments that their chief aim was to secure a bidden treasure of seven urns of Spanish coin which had been imbedded in the binffs at that point in years gone by by their ancient forefathers. They seemed to be extremely cautious in their manners, lest the pale face should discover the cause of their presence in cautious in their manners, lest the pale face should discover the cause of their presence in that particular locality, and wrest the coveted prize, for which they had travelled many railes. After diligent search, which occupied some 10 or 12 days, they succeed in finding the spot where lay concealed the secret of their researches. Little remains to be told. Suffice it togay that, after due exploration, their brightest anticipations were by far more than realized. The urns of gold and other sacred relics spoken of by their chiefs, long since gone to the happy "hunting grounds," were secured, and, on yesterday morning, these untuitored children of the forest took their departure for the far West, with many thousand Spanish dollars to cheer them on their long and tedious dollars to cheer them on their long and tedious

Adjourned. A WASHBOWL DIVORCE CASE.-The latest New York scandal is of a fashionable couple who quarreled a few mornings since, whereupon the wife, by the advice of her parents, sued for a divorce. The case is only note-worthy from the ridiculous cause of the quarrel. One morning it seems that the husband washed himself, as usual, in the bowl used by both, but the lady for some reason refused to use it that morning, and rang the bell for another. It was brought, when the now indignant husband flung it violently on the floer. breaking it in pieces. The wife thereupon called him hard pames, when he locked the bed-room door, and insisted that she should use the bowl. She vowed that she wouldn't, if she "went with a dirty face for a week." He swore she should, and so filling the bowl, he seized her hands, and using sufficient force, washed her face for her. He then un-locked the door and went to his business, while she went to consult a lawyer, and the suit began.
